Our community is like our family. Employers like you help strengthen our community by reporting your new hires to the New Mexico New Hires Directory, and helping facilitate the collection of child support.

Now there is one more way employers can help our community: by reporting new hires online. Online reporting helps our environment by reducing the use of resources associated with printing and shipping, such as paper and fuel. And when our environment is prospering, so may our communities. Go green and report your new hires online today!
